

Creepy Sounds Heard of “Screaming Bridge”

The following was taken from the “Pirate Press”, Volume 26, Number 3, 27 Oct 1999, written by Melinda Edwards.

The “Screaming Bridge” is a tale of horror about a young girl. This girl was allegedly walking her dog and was hit by a car. Her body was then flung into the creek. The bridge is located past the Bobber on Highway B.

According to legend, as one drives over the bridge with the windows down and the music off, one can hear the screams of the dear old child.

Senior Vicki Fuemmeler said, “I heard that the girl got in a car wreck and was flung into a tree by the creek. Every time I go over it I hear something but I don’t know what her voice is supposed to sound like.”

Some believe that the girl really died and was found in the creek; others, it is just the noise of the tires against the rough pavement.

“I have been told that if you travel at some rate of speed over it at midnight, you hear the girl scream, “ said Senior Evan Enderle.

This is a new one on me. This is a fairly new bridge, built in my life time. – Jim Thoma

www.mogenweb.org/cooper