Cassius Snider returned to his home in Keosauqua last week after an absence of nearly two years.

Howard Baird, of Douds, starts Tuesday next for Montana to look up a location in business.

John Taylor, of Davis county, was in Keosauqua this week visiting relatives.

Mrs. Preen, of Bonaparte township, is visiting her sister Mrs. Games who lives near Keosauqua.

Minnie, daughter of Wm. Hartson of Keosauqua, is at Dr. Gurnsey's near Lebanon, quite sick with lung fever.

Representative Widner, of the Iowa legislature, was in Keosauqua over Sunday visiting his sister, Mrs. N. R. Dawson.

C. W. Pyle, recently from the Iowa State University, where he has been attending school for three years past, has associated himself with his father Dr. E. C. Pyle, in the practice of medicine at Keosauqua.

Mr. John C. Smith, of Creston, Io., paid this office a visit Monday. He was called to this county to attend the funeral of his father, James Smith, who resided near Lebanon, an account of whose death is given elsewhere.

S. N. Norris leaves for Kansas next week to help his sons start in the cattle business. His wife goes with him. He will be only temporarily absent and expects to return to his home at Cantril the coming fall. Before going he will dispose of some of his personal property at public sale, a notice of which is given elsewhere.

Thomas Howard, Wyatt Vance and Charlie Taylor young men living near Keosauqua, also William Gustin, brother-in-law of Wyatt Roberts of this township, start for Montana territory in a couple of weeks to hunt up their fortune. They are worthy young men and will take with them the good wishes of many friends. They have the elements of true manhood and no bad report need be feared from their actions wherever they may be.
