

Deaths.

—Claud W. Steele, aged 28, died at the home of his father, John A. Steele south of Boonville, Thursday night after an illness covering a period of nearly one year. The funeral was held from Mt. Herman church to the church cemetery Sunday morning. A widow survives. Deceased was formerly M. K. & T. station agent at Holstein, Mo. He was a social member of the Modern Woodmen of America.

—T. P. Bennett, aged 42, locomotive engineer on the M. K. & T., died at his home at Franklin Junction on the night of January 7, after a short illness of pneumonia. The remains were shipped to Gregory Landing, Clark county, Mo., for burial. A widow and four children survive. Deceased was known in Boonville.

—D. Odonnell died at his home at Levasy, Jackson county, January 6. Deceased was a former resident of Howard county and was the father of D. C. Odonnell of Old Franklin and Mrs. DeGarno. Mrs. DeGarno was a former school teacher at Boonville and the older residents know of the family.

—Jane Crittenden, aged 45, died at her home in East Boonville Friday night. The funeral was held from the residence to the city cemetery Sunday afternoon. A husband and five children survive.

---

James M. Lawrence Killed.

The following dispatch from Versailles, Mo., appeared in Sunday's Globe Democrat:

"In an altercation this afternoon on the main street of Versailles, Henry Owens an unmarried tie-maker, 25 years old, stabbed to death James M. Lawrence, a farmer, 45 years old, living eight miles southwest of this city. Lawrence was married and is the father of a large family. Lawrence's son and Owens' brother had trouble a week ago at a dance, which led up to today's homicide."

Lawrence was a former resident of Cooper county and is well known by Boonville citizens.