Roy D. Williams Moves Law Office.

"The Boonville Office Building" is the new title of the former Trust Company building, on the corner of 5th and Court street. The interior has undergone a thorough overhauling and reconstruction, and is now an exclusive office building. The ground floor will be occupied by Mr. Williams, Leroy Schaumburg and the Cooper County Title and Abstract Company. Mr. Williams will occupy three rooms, Mr. Schaumburg one and the Abstract Company two. Mr. Williams moved his effects into the new location Wednesday, and will have cozy and up-to-date quarters for his calling, and will be found there hereafter. The law library of Mr. Williams is the most extensive in central Missouri; many volumes having been installed as far back as 1852, and it is known throughout the commonwealth, by the legal profession, as the most complete in any office in the interior of the state.

A telegram announcing the death of Albert Junkerman, of Blackwater, this county, was received by his parents last week, Tuesday. The telegram stated that he had died in a hospital in France on the 22nd day of September, of pneumonia. Albert has been in the service about a year, and has been in France several months. In a letter from him just a few days ago he stated he was well and doing fine and the telegram announcing his death was quite a shock to his parents as well as the entire community.

vent contagion. It has been decided that if conditions grow no worse by next Monday the ban on schools, churches and other public gatherings will be lifted; however vigilance will not be relaxed, and should the occasion arise for further measures of safety they will be promptly resorted to.

It is the desire of the health authorities to have every case of sickness that might be diagnosed as influenza promptly reported to them. With proper care and co-operation there should be no occasion for a spread of the disease in our city or surrounding vicinity.

Farm Residence Burned.

Our Billingsville correspondent informs us that the residence of Mr. Theodore Cartner, who lives about three miles east of Billingsville, was entirely burned to the ground last Sunday evening, and scarcely any of the household effects were saved from the flames. The fire was discovered while the family were eating supper, and the roof had about burned off before they were apprised of the conflagration. There was about $600 insurance on the building and the net loss will be quite heavy to Mr. Cartner. We were not informed just how the fire originated.
