

THE GROCERS' QUARTETTE, BOONVILLE, MO. (DeLuxe Photo)

First tenor, Lawrence White; second tenor, O. F. Boller; first bass, J. A. Tackett; second bass, V. A. Colln. (Reading from right to left.)

Four business men of Boonville who have been singing together for the past four years and whose melodious voices have delighted many local audiences. Two years ago the quartette broadcast over WOS and received 146 telegrams and letters from practically every state in the union, as well as, Canada, Alaska and Cuba, expressing appreciation and delight at the program rendered.

At the beginning of the quartette's career the members were engaged in the grocery business, hence the name. During the past year Mr. Boller has changed his business but the other three are still in the grocery business.

At the request of many friends the quartette will again broadcast over WOS Friday night, December 11, 1925, and their friends may rest assured that the program will furnish a real treat for music lovers. In addition to the Grocers' Quartette a mixed quartette from Boonville will take part in the program, including Miss Lela Varney, soprano, and Mrs. Lawrence White, contralto, with Mrs. Glazier Hoberecht, accompanist.

In addition to the musical program, Jewell Mayes, secretary of the Missouri State Board of Agriculture, will deliver an address, and Edgar C. Nelson, president of the Boonville Chamber of Commerce, will make a short talk on Boonville.

1/3

A PARTNER FOR V. A. COLIN

Boonville Grocer Sells Interest to Columbia Man

V. A. Colln, Boonville grocer, has sold a half-interest in his store to his brother-in-law, T. B. Hafner, secretary-treasurer of the Broadway Mills, Columbia, and the firm will be known as Colln & Hafner.

Mr. Hafner is engaged in business in Columbia and will not come to Boonville for the present.