(U.S.A.)

From a comparative obscure minor Senate clerk to the only congressman from his state is the story of the rise of Representative Dennis Chavez, above, of New Mexico. He has 435,000 constituents, consults his wife about politics, is fond of the Pinto beans and the chile she makes. He expects to be active in the effort for a tariff on copper.

Flood Menace Is Increased

Harnessing Missouri River To Aid Navigation Has Brought Danger.

TESTIMONY GIVEN AT K. C. HEARING

Five Million Acres Of Land May Be Under Muddy Waters.

Kansas City, Jan. 19. (U.P.)—Harnessing the Missouri river to aid navigation, has created an increased flood menace along the stream, according to testimony at a hearing conducted here today by Theodore Wyman, Jr., division engineer.

The hearing was one of four in cities along the river, designed to obtain information in which to work out a congressional program for flood prevention, irrigation, navigation, and power developments.

Previous hearings were at Helena, Montana and Bismark, North Dakota, and another meeting is scheduled for Jefferson City, February 15.

H. T. Caywood, consulting engineer of the Caw Valley drainage district, said that the flood danger now is greater than in 1903. This is due he said, to narrowing of the stream's channel, and advocated the construction of dams and impounding, to protect Kansas City from damage.

George Miller, secretary of the Missouri River Navigation committee, said that five million acres under irrigation were menaced by flood unless measures were taken on the stream and its tributaries to prevent them.

About two hundred persons were at the river hearing on matters affecting the Missouri river between Sioux City, Iowa to Boonville, Missouri, including representatives to protect their interest in property along the river.
