Mrs. L. M. Cordry
Died Last Friday

77 Year Old Resident Of Otterville
Community Had Been Ill
One Week

Mrs. L. M. Cordry died at her home in Otterville Friday afternoon at the age of 77 years. She had been in falling health the past year and had been ill about one week. She was born April 14, 1858 and has spent practically all her life in Otterville and nearby community. She was married to Mr. Cordry, Nov. 14, 1884, who preceded her in death seven years. Surviving are two daughters of the home, Misses Cora and Grace Cordry, and two sisters, Mrs. J. W. Parker and Miss Sarah Brownfield, of Kansas City. Mrs. Cordry has long been a member of the Cumberland Presbyterian church. Funeral services were held at the home Sunday afternoon conducted by Rev. G. A. Craig, pastor of the Otterville Baptist church. Burial was in the I. O. O. F. cemetery at Otterville. Pallbearers were the following friends of the family: T. R. Cranmer, Churchill Shultz, W. G. Streit, W. Q. Lewis, L. C. Wilkerson and H. M. Adams.
