with a chunk of concrete, authorities said. In Tallahassee, a spokeswoman for Gov. Bob Graham said the National Guard had been alerted in case conditions worsened. Other cities in the Dade County area had their forces on standby.

The disturbances came during Orange Bowl week celebrations and the beginning of the winter tourist season. All Orange Bowl events remained scheduled, but subject to cancellation depending on the severity of the disturbances, said Ed Goss, publicity chairman for the Orange Bowl Committee.

The huge Orange Bowl parade is scheduled Friday night and the parade route would take it within three blocks of Overtown.

The district was reopened to traffic Wednesday, but then sealed off again, with police called back in, after residents and business owners called to demand protection. Liquor stores and gas stations were ordered closed.

Gary urged motorists to avoid Interstate 95 and the Dolphin Expressway through Overtown after black youths hurled rocks and bottles at suburb-bound cars Wednesday afternoon. Downtown state and county offices, and some private businesses, closed early so workers could get home safely. Engineers used a computerized
