History:

The directions for this cemetery are given in "Memorabilia of Cooper County", 1990. The location for the cemetery is given in the 1915 Land Atlas. Entry for this cemetery is from the Cooper County Record of Deaths. The actual location and other names of people buried in this cemetery have long been lost.

This cemetery was once well known by residents of the Bell Air community. Mr. Bill Painter told of finding an old grave marker along the fence row on the north side of the road, but could not recall the names. Another former resident related that her mother had told her about how she had gone to an old burial plot on the "old Parrish Place" to a burial and to decorate the graves.
